

Stacey Olson

President, Chevron Appalachia, LLC
Chevron North America Exploration and Production

Stacey Olson is the president of Chevron Appalachia, LLC, a position she assumed in June 2016. She is responsible for leading Chevron's business unit that develops natural gas from shale in Pennsylvania, Ohio, and West Virginia. Stacey is a board member of both the Center for Responsible Shale Development (CRSD) and the Allegheny Conference on Community Development (ACCD). She is an executive committee member of the United Way of Southwestern Pennsylvania Women's Leadership Council (WLC), and is also a member of the International Women's Forum (IWF).

Throughout her career, Stacey has held a number of positions of increasing responsibility. Most recently, she served as general manager of asset development for Chevron Asia South Business Unit, based in Thailand. From 2012 to 2014, she was general manager of projects and future growth for Chevron Upstream Europe in the United Kingdom. From 2009 to 2012, she was vice president of heavy oil for IndoAsia Business Unit in Indonesia. Stacey also has held engineering and leadership positions in Nigeria, Venezuela, and the United States.

Stacey joined Chevron in 1989 as a drilling engineer. She earned a bachelor's degree in petroleum engineering from Louisiana State University in 1986 and a master's degree in business administration from Tulane University in 1994.

Stacey and her husband, John, have three children.